Colby Gates poet

Colby Gates grew up in an impossibly small town in west Texas. He received a B.A. in creative writing and literature from Santa Fe University of Art and Design in 2013. After completing his undergraduate degree, he received a fellowship from The Bucknell Seminar for Younger Poets at Bucknell University. He is currently pursuing an MFA in poetry at The University of New Mexico. His work often deals with the intersections of religion, sexuality, and place. His hobbies include texting ex-boyfriends after reading too much Anne Carson, dancing in his living room (but never in public), and searching for a husband who knows how to make enchiladas.

chatter music worth talking about SUNDAY

Today's performance is dedicated to Chatter co-founder Eric Walters, whose buoyant and ebullient spirit left this world early Tuesday morning. A brilliant cellist and composer, and a dedicated father and husband, Eric's steady optimism and unwavering lightness brightened the lives of those around him, and changed the world for the better. He will be missed by colleagues, friends, and family in New Mexico, and beyond.
