Bill O’Neill Poet

Bill grew up in rural Central Ohio, and graduated from Cornell University before moving to New Mexico in the early 90’s. A co-founder of Dismas House NM — a residential program that reintegrates male and female parolees back into the community — Bill now works with mentoring program for high-risk juvenile offenders. He is also a New Mexico Senator, representing District 13 in the Legislature, and is Vice Chair of Senate Public Affairs. A self-professed “liberal arts casualty”, Bill’s poetry has appeared in the New York Quarterly, Rolling Stock, The Santa Fe Literary Review and the Malpais Review, among others. Senator O’Neill has recently been performing his work, especially from a manuscript entitled “Under The JumboTron”, and will do so today.

Celebration of Silence :: Two Minutes
