

Cármelo de los Santos violin

Joel Beckettell cello

Cármelo de los Santos is violin professor at UNM.

Joel Beckettell performs with several orchestras.

Both are active as soloists and chamber musicians, and are members of REVEL, a classical band with an eclectic repertoire and engaging performance style.

REVEL will be recording a trio CD (with pianist Carla McElhaney) in May.

All three will perform at Chatter Cabaret on May 13.

Fixed and Free poets

We celebrate the recent release of the Fixed and Free Poetry Anthology 2011 – a collection of 79 poems from 79 poets – with four poets, all of whom have appeared at the monthly Fixed and Free poetry reading, which was founded by Billy Brown in 2008.

Copies of the anthology are for sale and will be available at the end of the performance.

Reading today . . .

Dee Cohen is a new resident of Albuquerque. Her poems have been published in various journals on- and offline. Her chap book Lime Ave Evening was published by the Laguna Poets.

Deborah Coy has loved words since the first time she was read Winnie The Pooh. They are her playthings, and sometimes they can be built into poetry.

Kenneth P. Gurney edits the New Mexico poetry anthology Adobe Walls. He participates in Albuquerque's poetry scene at open mics and by hosting the monthly Adobe Walls poetry reading. His poetry appears on the web and in print regularly.

Aaron Trumm was a repeat member of the Albuquerque and Houston (TX) Slam Poetry Teams, and was the number 10 ranked slam poet in America. He is also a musician and owner of NQUIT, a recording company with a studio in Albuquerque.
