The Lark Ascending (1914)
Ralph Vaughn Williams (1872–1958)

The Lark Ascending was inspired by George Meredith's 122-line poem of the same name about the skylark. Vaughn Williams included this portion of Meredith's poem on the flyleaf of the published work:

He rises and begins to round,
He drops the silver chain of sound,
Of many links without a break,
In chirrup, whistle, slur and shake.

For singing till his heaven fills,
'Tis love of earth that he instills,

And ever winging up and up,
Our valley is his golden cup
And he the wine which overflows to lift us with him as he goes.

Till lost on his aerial rings
In light, and then the fancy sings.
