Bill Nevins Spoken Word

Bill Nevins, born in 1947, grew up near New York City and moved to New Mexico in 1996. This is Bill's third Chatter reading. Bill is a life-long peace activist who has opposed wars and who worked to advance the Irish Peace Process. He is a grandfather and a so-called "gold star" parent whose son died in combat in 2013 as a US army Special Forces soldier in Afghanistan. Bill is a retired educator for University of New Mexico and other schools, a publishing journalist, a songwriter and a poet, with two books in print, Heartbreak Ridge and AWE, a 2007 feature film Committing Poetry in Times of War, and a third book Afterburner in preparation. Bill lives with his partner Jeannie Allen in Albuquerque and in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains near Angel Fire, NM. Bill has read his poetry internationally and he has hosted several New Mexico poetry gatherings. He is an active member of Vozclara Poetry Project, National Writers Union, Cultivating Voices Live online, Southwest Writers, SOMOS of Taos, Irish American Writers and Artists, New Mexico Irish American Society and other cultural groups. He is the Poetry Editor of Logos a Journal of Modern Society and Culture online.
